About the Cambridge Summer Campus

Stay up-to-date
with cutting edge research

The Cambridge Summer Campus by EPLO at Wolfson College is an initiative of the European Public Law Organization (EPLO, www.eplo.eu) that offers two highly stimulating weeks of courses from July 19 – August 3, 2014 on “Law in the Making” and covers key Law and Governance issues related to International and European Integration.

Prestigious scholars from Cambridge University and all over the world will present the political, institutional, regulatory and supervisory framework of evolving fields of law. The 2014 session’s topics are for week 1 : Sanctions in the Int’l Public Law and for Week 2: the European Banking Union.

In addition to attending interactive and dynamic lectures and seminars, students will study in the comfort of Cambridge’s most cosmopolitan college, Wolfson College, and have the opportunity to explore the historic city of Cambridge and surrounding world-class tourist sites on the weekends.

Advanced undergraduates, graduates and practitioners from all over the world specializing in relevant social sciences fields as well as, international and domestic practitioners in these fields, are invited to apply.

Cambridge and Wolfson College

The College was founded by the University of Cambridge in 1965 as University College, changing its name to Wolfson College in 1973 following generous funding from the Wolfson Foundation. The Wolfson College is now a mature institution and plays a full part in the life of the University of Cambridge, both intellectually and also culturally.

The majority of Wolfson students are carrying out research towards postgraduate degrees, in particular PhDs and MPhils, but there are also students studying for taught Masters degrees and a number of mature undergraduates. Wolfson has a large and diverse Fellowship of academics working within the University of Cambridge, including about 30 postdoctoral Research Fellows each year, as well as regular academic visitors from abroad, further enhancing the College's international reputation.

Transportation

By road:

RAC and AA websites offer up-to-date traffic information and route-planners. From London and its airports: London Orbital (M25), M11 north; from the Midlands or the North: A1, A14, M11 south; from the East: A11/A14, M11 south. Look out for Gough Way on your left, closely followed by a safety camera. The College entrance is on your left, shortly after the camera, opposite Grantchester Road and just before the traffic lights at the pedestrian crossing.

By Air:

London Stansted (40 min)

London Luton (1 hour)

London City (1.5 hour)

London Heathrow (2 hour)

London Gatwick (2 hour)

There are regular coach services from these airports to central Cambridge.

By Rail:

First Capital Connect provides a fast and frequent service from London King's Cross and Greater Anglia provides a slower service from London Liverpool Street. There are also direct services from the Midlands, the east and the north-west. From Scotland and the north-east you have to change at Peterborough.

By Coach:

National Express runs hourly services to and from London and the London airports, as well as serving many other towns and cities.

The College is located on Barton Road, Newnham Cambridge, within easy reach of London, London's airports and other major cities.
